

EDPY 535: Group Counseling

A study about the types of groups, styles of group leadership, and techniques used by group counselors. In addition, group theories, the dynamics of group processes, and the developmental stages of group counseling are thoroughly explored. Counselor's skills in the management of group process are included.

Credits: 3

Program: Psychology